Action Points

- 1. To clarify how we aim to give parents and carers a clear understanding of what is taught in Religious Education and to make further information available when required.*

We try to keep everybody informed about what is taught in Religious Education through;

Termly Parents' Letters about our Come and See programme - These are available on your child's class web page and on the Catholic Life of the School web page.

An overview of the whole school Come and See RE curriculum is also available on the Come and See page under curriculum.

Parents evenings in the Autumn and Spring terms where parents are invited to see and discuss their children's work.

All policies relating to the teaching of Religious Education, Collective Worship, Spiritual and Moral development and Relationship and Sex Education are also on the Catholic Life of the School web page with additional information for further support.

Please do not hesitate in contacting your child's teacher, Miss Harris, the RE coordinator or Mr Metcalf if you would like to discuss what we teach in greater detail.

- 2. To keep parents/ carers better informed about child(ren)'s progress in Religious Education*

Currently, we share information about children's progress in RE through Parents evenings in the Autumn and Spring terms where parents are invited to see and discuss their children's work and through annual school reports.

Again, please do not hesitate in contacting your child's teacher or Miss Harris, the RE coordinator if you would like to discuss your child's progress in RE further.

- 3. To clarify how we try to seek out the views of parents/ carers and how to proceed if you feel we have not taken account of your concerns.*

From time to time, we will send out consultation documents/ questionnaires to gather your opinions on school matters. For example, on rewriting our School Mission Statement, new school uniforms and Religious Education.

Staff are available to discuss concerns through parents' evenings and through contacting the school office.

If you feel your concerns are still not addressed, please consult our school complaints procedure.

4. To respond to suggestions/ comments written on the back of forms.

Issues/ suggestions raised will be passed on to appropriate staff

Thank you once again for your responses and for your continued support.
